

Primary Parents and Carers Survey for Relationships, Sex and Health Education (RSHE)

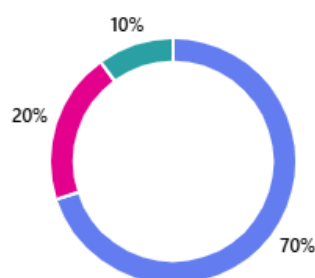

Please complete this survey by 2nd June 2025

At Blackwell Primary School we are currently reviewing the way we teach age-appropriate relationships, sex and health education (RSHE). It is a legal requirement for schools to teach some of these areas of learning. For more information please look at the resources attached to the ParentHub message that has gone out.

1. Did you know Primary Schools are recommended to teach sex education and that parents continue to have the right to request their child is excused from sex education?

ID ↑	Name	Responses
1	anonymous	Family only, not woke culture.
2	anonymous	Respect and safety
3	anonymous	To be equipped with, age appropriate, information so that they have the foundations to form a holistic view. Hopefully, this may help to educate any future prejudice which may occur.
4	anonymous	Personal, social and health education
5	anonymous	To educate children on healthy relationships, self-worth and self-respect and to empower children to advocate for themselves in this area
6	anonymous	Not sure
7	anonymous	Respect for each other and what behaviour is appropriate for their age
8	anonymous	None
9	anonymous	Hygiene and emotions are normal
10	anonymous	None, because they are far too young to understand this. Why is this in the curriculum, when there are far more important issues to discuss.

4. Looking at the Curriculum overview provided in the PDF attached to ParentHub is there anything you would like more information on? (If not please write N/A)
